

About Columere Park Developments:

Founded by David and Donna Rae as a private venture in 1988, Columere Park Developments is a development company built around a love of the land. After visiting the Columbia Valley as high school students, David and Donna immediately fell in love with the area and started building their first cabin in Columere Park after graduating from university.

In 1988, the couple put in a bid to purchase the Columere Park development and was awarded the opportunity. Columere Park encompassed 52 acres including beach and marina, which they divided into five phases and 75 single family lots. In 1993, they ventured onto their next project, buying the first 71 acres for the south part of Columbia Ridge. They purchased an additional 20 acres on the north part in 1994. They sold the first lot in 1996 and completed the last phase of Columbia Ridge in 2000.

They began planning for their newest venture, now named Spirits Reach, with the purchase of the first parcel of land in 1999. They bought three additional parcels in 2002, 2004 and 2005, with the final property transaction to take place in 2007.

Having lived, worked, played and raised their family in the Columbia Valley for over 25 years, David and Donna passionately enjoy the Columbia Valley. Their lives are wrapped in a spirit of community they're committed to recreating in Spirits Reach.
